THE VANDERBILT ESTATE.

ADJOURNING THE WILL CONTEST. TWENTY DAYS MORE ALLOWED, BEGINNING ON SEPTEMBER 20-CROSS-EXAMINATION OF DR.

HAMILTON. Surrogate Calvin yesterday adjourned the Vanderbift will contest to September 20. The contestant will have eight more days, and the proponent will then be allowed twelve days to present his case. Dr. F. H. Hamilton was cross-examined by Mr. Clinton yesterday,

EXAMINATION AND ARGUMENT.

The last session of the Vanderbilt will case before the Summer vacation was held yesterday. Everybody concerned seemed relieved when it was announced that the case was adjourned until September 20. The extreme heat has made recent sessions very irksome to the Surrogate, witnesses and counsel. The attendance in court, however, was nearly as large as usual yesterday. Several ladies were present, among them Mrs. E. Fletcher Dishop, the entertaining witness of last week, and Mrs. La Bau, the contestant.

Dr. F. H. Hamilton was cross-examined by Mr. Clinton. Much time was expended upon the consideration of the long hypothetical question put to the witness by of the long hypothetical question but to the winders by Mr. Lord on Friday, which involved a large part of the issues in the case. Mr. Clinton also put a hypothetical question, in which be assumed that the son, Cornelius J., "who was practically disinherited," was a gambler and swindler, against whom many criminal charges had been made; that he had been an inmate of insane asylums. Under such circumstances, the counsel asked, would the legacy left by the decedent to that son indicate unsoundness of muc! The witness answered that the fact that such an irresponsible son was not properly cared for was evidence of poor judgment and unnatural feeling of a father toward a son. Dr. Hamilton did not think that under the circumstances $10,000 a year was sufficient; perhaps $20,000 might be. "Suppose," asked Mr. Clinton, "that the post mortem examination indicated aliments that would be likely to produce insanity, and the man himself in his lifetime gave none of those indications of weakness of mind to those about him, would you not give the greater weight to the characteristics of the man while alive as proof of his mental condition? "Certainly, sir," was answered. Mr. Clinton—Thom whould a man leave his daughters in order to indicate soundness of mind?" A.—Something like their reasonable anticipations.

Q.—And all who differ from you are—A.—Are entitled to their opinion. [Laughter].

On re-direct examination Mr. Lord asked: Suppose a property of $100,000,000 and an invalid son with debta of $100,000, the most of the debt to an eminent citizen, and which debt the testator had agreed to provide for in his will, which he did not do, what condition of mind would that indicate to you? A.—It would indicate a fluctuating mind, prejudiced against his son, and a lack of natural affection.

In the afterneon the question of adjournment was taken up. Mr. Clinton said that at the opening of the Summer session of the case the contestaut's counsel had made the most inflamous charges against the proponent;

In the afternoon the question of adjournment was taken up. Mr. Clinton sud that at the opening of the Summer session of the case the contestant's counsel had made the most infamous charges against the proponent; the proponent defled them to tae proof, and did not wish to put anything in their way; but such indulcence had never been granted before in any court as had been given to the contestant. Although it was hard to sit in bot weather, still to do less than to require the other side to close their case before vacation would be great injustice. The proponent had a right to know what case he would have to meet. Unless the Surrogate applied the rules in ordinary cases, it would be impossible to finish the case during his term of office.

"I would say in regard to Mr. Redburn," answered Mr. Lord, "that he is suffering from internationt fever; I have seen him several times, and he is utterly unable to appear, but his physician is confident that he can be here on next Tuesday, if it is thought best." In regard to the adjournment, Mr. Lord saud that this was the largest estate ever administered upon in America. It was necessarily a slow case, it had takes forty days. Another case that Mr. Clintoh had in this court, of far less importance, had taken fifty days: the Beecher irial took more than one hundred days of actual trial. In view of all the circumstances, they had the right to ask that their interests should not suffer in order that the trial might be shortened by a few days.

Mr. Clinton—I must ask your Honor then to give us every working-day during the remainder of your term of office; else it will be impossible to finish the case before the term expires, and then they will spring upon us the point that your successor will not have jurisdiction in the case, and so it will go on forever.

The Surrogate—I you go on in such warm weather as this, my term of office will be very short.

Mr. Clinton—I ask the privilege to show before the adjournment that the affidavits of the conspiracy witnesses, as presented by Mr should be given to it, considering the rights of other parties before this court. I don't nostpone this case to get the testimony of the conspiracy witnesses. Something has been said about taking their testimony by commission. But I am of the opinion that such witnesses should never be examined by commission. Therefore, if they are to be examined, it must be in court. Again I hold that a definite time must be fixed for closing the contestant's case. I have fixed eight days for the contestant and tweive for the proponent. The condition of postponement should be this: On September 20, 24, 25, 27, October 1, 2 and 4, the contestant must present all the testimony she may have to offer. The conspiracy witnesses must appear and testify in court or not at all. On October 9, 11, 15, 16, 18, 22, 23, 25, 29 and 30, the proponent must present his case. No conspiracy witness can be presented whose name is not now given.

Mr. Lord named Redburn, Mason and Clark, and a fourth man "now in the employ of the proposent." Mr. Cinton insisted on knowing his name. The answer was that the only reason the other side had for identifying him was to "educate him as a witness." At this Mr. Clinton was indigenent. He said that he had heard enough of the "educating of witnesses" from those who brought "transped-up testimony" into court. The Court said that the contestant's counsel must give the name of the other witness. Mr. Lord said that it was a man named Stevens, a conductor on the Fourth Avenue Railroad. The court then adjourned until September 20 at 10:30 o'clock.

CONEY ISLAND'S NEW ROAD AND HOTEL.

MANY VISITORS AT THE HOTEL BRIGHTON-PREPA-RATIONS FOR GUESTS.

Bustle and confusion reigned Tuesday at the Hotel Brighton, at the Coney Island end of the Brooklyn, Flatbush and Coney Island Ruilroad. Everywhere in and about the hotel, workmen were busy. No attempt to serve meals was made, and visitors were compelled to seek refreshment at the other houses. Many were content to sit on the broad verandas and listen to the music of the 23d Regiment Band, which was stationed in the stand in the centre of the plaza; but many more wandered along the beach to Engeman's or to the Manhattan Beach Hotel. Toward evening something like order emerged from the apparent confusion. The floors of the halls, which had been littered with shavings and soraps of paper from the unpacking of furniture, were swept; the laborers had finished their work and disappeared, while the visitors had gathered again and througed the piazzas and halls. Trains were arriving constantly and adding to the crowd their loads of passengers, and carriages drew up to the house and gave variety to the scehe. The number of visitors who passed in and out during the day it was difficult to estimate, but it undoubtedly reached several thousands. Nearly two thousand tickets were sold at the Brooklyn terminus of the railroad, and to this number must be added those who went by other routes and the many who flocked to the house from the neighboring botels.

It was expected that by night everything would be in compelled to seek refreshment at the other houses other routes and the many who flocked to the house from the neighboring hotels.

It was expected that by night everything would be in readiness to accommodate the guests of the hotel, and that meals would be served regularly. About thirty permanent guests were received, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Henkla, Walter Katte and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Booth and John Beecher, of New-York, and Samuel B. Bartow, of Brooklyn. Many others have engaged rooms and it is expected that the house will be filed within a few days. No arrangements for bathing directly in front of the hotel have yet been made. Laborers are engaged in filling the low places in the beach and when their work is finished it will require little labor to carry out the plans.

the beach and when their work is finished it will require little labor to carry out the plans.

A short distance east of the hotel, and a little nearer to the beach, is a large and commodious bathing pavilion, which has been erected by William Engeman, the proprietor of the Ocean House, which is situated to the westward of the hotel. The bathing-house is two stories in height, and is constructed on a novel plan. The first floor is occupied with refreshment-rooms, a bar, etc., and there is a broad versaidal facing the ocean, upon which tables and numerous easy chairs are placed. Up one flight of stairs are the bathing-rooms, 500 in number. The approach to the beach from this story is by means of a broad passageway over the plazza below, and a flight of stairs which terminates almost at the edge of the water. This secures much-needed privacy to the bathers, especially to ladies, who are not compelled to run the gauntlet of numerous spectators while passing from the bath-houses to the ocean.

It must be remembered that the season began this year three weeks earlier than last. The tolls for June this year are $33,017 13 less than they were during May, which is supposed to be due to the slower movement of boats, because the force of lock tenders and canal hands being greatly reduced since May, locking takes longer time. The total tomage for all the canals, going both ways, for the month, was 661,388 tons, as against 680,122 during the same month last year. The total tonnaer for the season so fare is 1,583,520 tons, as against 1,194,888 at this time in the season last year.

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

DARING ROBBERY OF BONDS. A PHILADELPHIA BANKER LOSES $12,000-ONE OF THE THIEVES ARRESTED IN JEESEY CITY.

Two men entered the banking-house of Grant & Aull, No. 29 South Third-st., Philadelphia, Tuesday afternoon, and one offered to sell Mr. Grant some gold coin. The coin was produced, and Mr. Grant gave the man bills in exchange. The second man then stated that he also had some coin which he wanted to sell, and the two men went away to get it, the owner stating that it was at his house. After a short absence, the two men returned to the office with some coin, which Mr. Grant also purchased. The strangers turned to leave the office, when one of them asked the price of the State bonds of Tennessee, and said he would like to make an inves asked the price of the State bonds of Tennessee, and said he would like to make an investment in them. Mr. Grant requested him to walk to the rear end of the office, where the stock indicator is kept, and see for what the bonds were selling, the other man remaining in the main office. After a short conversation, the two men left the office, but promised to return to-day to purchase some of the sccurities.

Soon after their departure, Mr. Grant missed a package from his desk which contained $12,000 in United States 4½ per cent bonds. The bonds were for $1,000 cach, payable in 1891, and numbered from 93,396 to 93,407 inclusive. The package could have been reached only with a stick or cane. Much excitement was caused by the discovery of the robbery, as the bonds were the property of a customer and had been received as a special deposit. The Philadelphia police were given notice, and a description of the thieves and the numbers of the bonds were telegraphed to the bankers and brokers of the principal cities.

Mr. Grant started for this city on the "owl" train on the Pennsylvania Italicoad, which leaves Philadelphia at 1 a. m. As Mr. Grant was getting out of his berth at Jersey City, he recognized a passenger in another berth as one of the thieves. He at once jumped off the train in order to call an officer, and saw the thief passing through the ferry gate. Mr. Grant shouled to William Morgan, who had charge of the gateman, when he dropped the articles and pulled out a revolver, threatening to kill the first man who stopped him. The gateman and Mr. Grant fell back, and the man escaped in the crowd.

While the banker was trying to arrest the first thief, his companion, who was also a passenger on the train, ran out of the west end of the depot, jumped on an empty trick and drove furrously up Greenest. to First-st. The driver the train, ran out of the west end of the depot, jumped on an empty truck and drove furiously up Greene-st. to First-st. The driver succeeded in overtaking the truck, sprang up behind and seized the man. Officer Harney took the thief in charge, and he was locked up in the Eirst Precine station-house. He gave his name as William H. Robinson, thirty-five years old, and no residence. He was identified by Mr. Grant as one of the thieves. He was taken before Judge Davis, and held to await the action of the Philadelphia authorities. The bonds were not recovered.

TRYING TO CLOSE INFAMOUS RESORTS. EFFORTS OF THE RESIDENTS OF THE TWENTY-NINTH PRECINCY TO SUPPRESS INTOLERABLE NUI-

S. Conant Foster, who lives at No. 22 West Twenty-seventh-st., has been trying to close the low resorts in that street, especially the "Buckingham Palace." A meeting of citizens owning property in the neighborhood was held recently and a petition was signed by Elwood E. Thorne, Dexter A. Hawkins and many others, calling on whatever authorities had the power to suppress the Buckingbarn Palace. The main reason deemed best to urge was the depreciation of real estate between Broadway and Sixth-ave., caused by the proximity of this low dance-house.

Mr. Foster presented the petition to the Excise Commissioners, and was told that they could do nothing; missioners, and was told that they could do nothing; that the license which was given to the Buckingham Palace was only to sell beer and ale; that the present proprietor never had a license from them; and that it was the plain duty of the police in that precinct to shar up the place if it was objectionable.

All this, in turn, Mr. Foster told to Captain Williams, of the precinct in which the Buckingham Palace, the Cremorne and the Argyle Rooms are. Captain Williams explained that the license named the Buckingham Palace, and that under those circumstances it did not matter who was the proprietor. The place, not the man, had the license. Mr. Foster went several times to see the captain, but could obtain no other satisfaction. Finally he remarked that he believed that he could bring a little minesce to bear upon General Smith, president of the Police Beard, and in case nothing was done he would lay the whole matter before the General, who, at least, would give it a hearing. Captain Williams told Mr. Foster to be at the Jefferson Market Police Court the next morning to take the first steps toward the desired end. Captain Williams mentioned no time, but Mr. Foster asked the sergeant on duty at what hour it would be best to go. The sergeant save him directions, which he and his friends were careful to follow.

"We were promptly at the Police Court," said Mr.

"We were promptly at the Police Court," said Mr.
Foster, "on the morning appointed, at haif-past 9 o'clock. But no capitain and no word of him came, although we waited until 11 o'clock. I have said nothing more to him about it. I shall bring the whole matter before the Police Board. Property is depreciating in value because of these places and the presence in our street of i's people who frequent them. These people ple are often intoxicated and act disgracefully. Some relief should be given to us. Capitain Williams says he never hears any noise or sees any disturbances. That may be. He is well known by the people and they subside when he appears.

"At the corner near my house there was a small policy shop, to which I called the captain's attention. He declared that he and his officers could not enter the place to obtain any evidence. Bo I went myself immediately and played a game. The next morning the man put up his shutters and the place has not been opened since."

THE CANINE HARVEST AT THE POUND. "We have here only curs of low degree," said one of the Assistant Pound Masters Tuesday, as he gave to each of the 500 dogs a piece of tripe. "Still, every day," he added, "ladies call who are auxious to pay any price to redeem their pets. When they search through the various kennels they fail to discover their through the various kenuels they fail to discover their favorities. Then they tell us that the catchers entered their halls and unmuzzled and unchained their dogs and carried them away. Several days after they find their dogs in a dealer's store and buy them back at a high price. The catchers, whenever they get a good dog, sell it to a dealer for $5 or $10, whereas here they would only receive thirty cents. We have long since learned that many of these men are rogues. Last year one went into a yard and mistook a lot of poultry, and even a horse for a dog. He is now serving his time on Blackwell's Island.

"There is a marked falling of." he continued this the horse for a dog. He is now serving his time on Blackwell's Island.

"There is a marked falling off," he continued, "in the business this year in comparison with that of last year.
Many times last year we kiled 800 dogs at a time.
Those drowned this year number 1,222. To-day about 300 more dogs will neet their fate. The Pound has now been in operation fourteen days, and we have received 1,636 dogs. During the first fourteen days last year there were received 4,378 dogs. This falling off is due to the fact that now only fifteen catchers are employed, where last year, there were twenty-five. The majority of dogs brought here are seldom redeemed. A few persons, not acquanted with the breed of dogs, make occasional purchases. A man bought an old mongrel dog yesterday for $5 that wasn't worth five cents. Altogether there have been $80 from this source.
Nine releases have been ordered by Mayor Ely. Of these, one dog belonged to the Ninth Precint Station House, and the other was the police watch-dog at the dumping ground."

The pistoi ball Finher, as out of immediate danger. The pistoi ball has been taken from the left side of the wounded man. Yesterday he was sleeping quietly. Several years ago Deering fell out of a second story window and was seriously injured, but soon recovered. About eighteen months ago he fell down an elevator shatt—a distance of forty feet. The fall broke both his legs below the knees, and caused a sheek to his system which came near proving fatal. He never fully recovered from the effects of the fall, and has since suffered from frequent hemorphages of the lungs. During his waking moments, yesterday, Deering spoke of young Howell in a forgiving manner and expressed the wish that he could leave his bed to intercede for him. He could think of no cause, he said, why Howell should have entertained any feelings of anger or resentment against him.

Howell is cool and calm in his confinement at the Tombs. He professes to be sorry for his attempt at murder, but betrays very little emotion. From what could be learned yesterday it appeared that the sole cause of Howell's attempt to kill Deering was a feeling of Jealouny. The latter had succeeded in keeping a business situation from which the former had been discharged.

MR. DORSHEIMER'S POLITICAL VIEWS.

Lieutenant-Governor Dorsheimer, who sailed by the steamship Russia yesterday, had something to say upon politics, even at the last moment. Making a comparison between Butler and Senator Conkling, he comparison between Butler and Senator Conkling, he gave the latter the paim for ability and industry. Though &r. Conkling had a great hold on his followers, he thought it doubtful if a merely Legislative election in the Fall could be made very exciting, when there would be no ticket in the field for President or Governor. A Boston friend told him, a few days ago, he said, that General Butler would be the next Democratic candidate for Governor of Massachusetts, and would be elected. Mr. Doraheimer expressed his belief in legislative bodies and particularly in having long speeches in them, and deplored the one-hour rule in Congress. He thought the Potter Committee was doing good, even if it failed to find any fraud, and when asked if ex-Governor Tilden sought a renomination, said it was only human matter that a man who had been "cheated out of the Presidency" would like to have a chance to try for it again.

POLICEMEN ROWING FOR PRIZES.

The members of the Police Boat Club had their annual regatts yesterday afternoon, on the Harlem River. Out of seven entries, three started in the contest -John T. Gilligan and John W. The prizes were a gold medal for the first boat in, and a silver one for the second. A large number of policemen from the different precinets were Subsequently the notes were withdrawn by the holder at the request of the firm, who made some arrangement for a settlement. The friends of the firm advised them to suspend paying out any honey until their accounts were made up. The liabilities amount to $250,000, unsecured, and are nearly all due in New-York, the creditors numbering about forty. The assets consist of a large arrount of straw goods, which cannot be realized upon at present, and are valued at $15,000. The firm could settle at fifty cents on the dollar, but hope to pay more if the creditors are lenient. John P. Beatty is a partner of Beatty Brothers, of Norwalk, who manufacture the goods which are sold by Vanderhoef & Beatty. E. A. THE SUN CAUSING A FIRE ALARM.

Precautions against fire are sometimes too effective. On Tuesday an automatic telegraph wire in the fur store at No. 31 Mercer-st. sounded an alarm in the engine house near by in Wooster-st. Directly the proprietors of the store were astonished to see the enthe engine house hear by in woosterst. Directly to proprietors of the store were astonished to see the engine rushing up to their door. An examination showed that a portion of the wire running under the skylight had been so heated by the sun's rays that it had expanded sufficiently to affect that part of the apparatus called the thurmstadt, and the nairui had been sounded. "These automatic alarms," said Captain James, of the Fire Insurance Patrol, in Great Jones-st., yesterday, "are much more used in this city than one would suppose. I suppose aitogether 350 buildings in New, York are supplied with them. They generally call only one engine, but those in the Union Square Theatre and such places would give the regular alarm, which calls out three engines. They do not give many false alarms now. Three or four years ago, when the idea was new, such alarms were more frequent. Experience has shown how the apparatus should be best placed. If the wire runs along in a position so near a skylight that the rays of the sun focus on it, away the alarm goes. The heat necessary is 135 or 145 and sometimes only 125 degrees—that depends upon the way the thurmstadt is set. One hundred and twenty-five degrees can soon be raised. If too many gas-jets are buruing in a small room, or too near the thurmstadt, the immediate temperature is soon high enough to affect the wire. This happens most often in sub-cellars. But the faise alarms don't matter so much. When we are called we always find that at least three is heat enough to be unbealthy, and to deserve attention.

GREAT DEMAND FOR GOVERNMENT BONDS.

GREAT DEMAND FOR GOVERNMENT BONDS. Another order for $1,000,000 4 per cent oonds was forwarded to Washington yesterday, by the First National Bank, making the second $1,000,000 subscription in less than a week. The great bulk these bonds, it is stated, has been taken

The trustees of the Singer estate have recently invested $200,000 in 4 per cent bonds, for the benefit of minor heirs.

A leading bond dealer said yesterday: "The London market is bare of bonds, and it is difficult to fill orders here, the demand is so great. Last week the sales of Government bonds made by the First National Bank aggregated nearly $10,000,000, the demand being principally for 4s, 4½s, and 5s for home consumption. The market has advanced from one to one and a half per cent in the last twenty days, which is due to a scarcity of bonds, and an increasing demand for investment."

Frederick Gantzler, a shoemaker employed by F. Ottmer, at No. 504 East Fifth-st., left his home in Avenue-A, between Twelfth and Thirteenth-sts., on Monday, taking with him all his clothes and money. Yesterday morning he entered a saloon at No. 213 West-st. and asked for a giass of whiskey, which he drank, and walked to the back of the building. The bartender was startled by hearing a pistol shot, and going to the rear found Gantzler in an outbuilding, with a revolver by him with which he had shot himself through the hear. He died in a few minutes. Letters were found upon him addressed to his wife, giving as the reason of the deed that he was tired of living. His wife said that he had been despondent lately, but she had observed nothing that indicated a desire to take his life.

A RAILWAY NOTE PROTESTED.

A sixty-days' note for $37,500, given by the Indianapolis and St. Louis Railroad Co. to the St. Louis Alton and Terre Haute Railroad Company was protested, yesterday, at the Bank of North America. This note was given for the rental of the Terre Haute road for April, under a ninety-nine-years' lease, executed June 1, 1867, at an annual rental of at least $450,000. The payments under the contract were guaranteed by the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago, and the Cleveland, Columbus. Cincinnati and Indianapoils Railroad Companies. Last mouth the guarantors gave notice that the note would not be met unless the St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute Company would agree to a reduction of rental to $350,000, owing to the withdrawal of the Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Lafayette Railway Company, one of the original guarantors. The proposed reduction was refused.

Robert Bayard Cutting, who represents the St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute Company in this city, said yesterday that his company held another note for $37,500, given by the Indianapolis and St. Louis Company for the May rental, which would fall due at the Bank of North America, August 6. This note he believes will also be protested. A consultation with legal advisors and the officials of the road will be held at once and suit will be brought. was given for the rental of the Terre Haute road for APPOINTMENT AND PAY OF TEACHERS. The Board of Education yesterday adopted the recommendation of the Committee on the Norma

College to appoint five junior teachers in the Training Department, at a salary of $400, to date from September next. They are: Miss Elia Boese, Miss Grace F. Potter, Miss Maggie L. Rolle, Miss Emma Stevens and Miss Jane Cook. Miss Isabella Parsells was appointed Superintendent. The Teachers' Committee reported that Miss Hibberd, of the Randall's Island School, should receive a salary of $900 from January 1, and that the difference between that and the former salary, which she had not received, should be paid to her. Some opposition was made, and President Wood explained that through an error, when her salary was raised it was not stated that it should be from that date. Miss Hibberd, he said, had arduous duties. The president of the College of the City of New-York reported that the number of applications for advission to the college was 889; of this number 236 were rejected, 6 were absent on account of sickness and will be examined in September, and 647 were admitted. GENERAL WEBB MUCH WEAKER. General Webb's condition was worse vesterday than on any other day since his recentiliness. In the morning he showed signs of great weakness, after a sleepless night. He suffered much from a chill. Dr. sleepless night. He suffered much from a chill. Dr. Markoe, the attending physician, was so much slarmed at the change in his condition that he considered it wise to have a consultation, and Dr. John T. Metcalfe was summoned. The symptoms of the case were reviewed and closely studied. The result of the consultation was that General Webly's condition was thought very serious. It was believed that a decided change would take place within twenty-four hours. Another consultation will be held to-day with the same physicians and Dr. John J. Crane. Dr. William Seward Webb, son of General Webb ta constantly with his father. Many letters are received daily at the residence of General Webb from old friends inquiring after his condition. Thurlow Weed and George H. Andrews are daily callers.

DISSENSIONS AT BERLIN. THE PLENIPOTENTIARIES BECOMING OBSTINATE-PRINCE BISMARCK ON THE CRISIS. LONDON, Thursday, July 4, 1878.

The Times's Berlin dispatch confirms the report that difficulties have arisen on minor questions. It says: "The bitter comments of the English and Rus sian newspapers on the concessions granted or gained by their respective plenipotentiaries have made the plenipotentiaries indisposed to yield any-thing; thus the question of the possession of Vranja and Pirot has been discussed four days without reaching a settlement. Discussion on the question as to the division of the Sandjak of Sophia has lasted a week, England desiring to secure the lehtiman line of defeuce for Roumeila."

In conjucction with these differences. The Times's cor-week, England desiring to secure the lehtiman line of defence for Roumeila."

In connection with these differences, The Time's correspondent gives an account of an interview with Prince Bismarck on Tuesday night.

"Prince Bismarck said he wished for peace and had contributed to it as much as possible since he could clearly see his way. England had achieved a magnificent success in limiting Bulgaria and in regard to the Stroits. Her preparations had proved she cound become a great military Power; but war between England and Russia would menace everyone.

"He said this because he was convinced there would be peace now that the Bulgarian question had been settled. However, serious account must be taken of Russia's sacrifices during the war and concessions since. Despite the admirable disposition of Count Schouwaloff, there might be a limit to his desire for peace.
"He considered neither the English nor Russians didjustice to their representatives. If war after all unhappily arose, Germany, having done all possible for peace, would be able to stand aloof on gnard. He considered Batum the real difficulty. The Russians had a good case.
"He should be delighted to hear they had made con-case.

"He should be delighted to hear they had made concessions, but he hoped the matter would be settled outside the Congress. He thought the Turks would yield to Austria, but not to Greece."

The Innes's correspondent at Berlin telegraphs that the Batum question is still under negotiation.

Renewed reports are current that the Porte has uncompromisingly refused to permit Austrian occupation, but resistance is not anticipated.

RUSSIA RENOUNCES HER CLAIM TO BATUM. FRESH DIFFICULTIES IN THE WAY.

BERLIN, Thursday, July 4, 1878. The Post's dispatch from Berlin states that the territory granted to Roumania does not Silistria. The Russians have abandoned all claim for Batum. Lord Odo Russell, Count Schouvaloff and Prince Hohenlohe in conversa-tion admit that fresh difficulties have arisen. It is said these difficulties concern the frontiers of Eastern Rou-

NO COMMUNISTIC OUTBREAK FEARED.

ALBANY, July 3 .- Adjutant-General Townsend, in reply to inquiries whether any especial measures had been taken by his department to provide against any possible Communist or labor disturbances, against any possible Communist or labor disturbances, said that there had been no orders issued upon the subject, and that he thought there need be no apprehension of any disturbances. The National Guard of the State, he said, is now in better condition than it has ever been, and with its experience in the queling of riots last Summer, is more fitted for a sudden eampaign than it was then, when, on short notice, it mustered so promptly. The guarding of armories in New-York City was a part, he believed, of the police arrangements there, and authority for doing so was not required to be given by his department.

FREIGHT RATES ADVANCING.

CHICAGO, July 3. - Rates on eastbound freights were slightly advanced to-day at a special meeting of agents here. The rate from Chiesgo to Now-york for grain was made 16 cents; for flour, 32 cents, and for fourth-class freight, 18 cents. Grain to Balti-more or Philadelphia was fixed at the rate of 14 cents, and other rates accordingly.

THE GETTYSBURG DISABLED.

A Paisley publican was complaining of his servant-maid that she could never be found when re-quired. "She'll gang oot o' rhe house," said he, "twenty times for ance she'll come in."

An eminent Scottish divine happened to meet two of his parishioners at the house of a lawyer whom he considered too sharp a practitioner. The lawyer jocularly and ungraciously put the question, "Doctor, these are members of your flock; may I ask, do you look upon them as white or black sheep?" "I don't know," answered the divine, dryly, "whether they are white or black sheep, but I know if they are here long they are pretty sure to be fleeced."
